Dear Chris

The time and date are fine for me. Thanks for the input and assistance to date. It's nice to know I'm not 'on my own' out there and there are others that believe we can do things a lot better.

Cheers for the Christmas / New Year.

Subject: Division 3 GCCC elections

Happy New Year Chris! Hope 2004 is good to all of us. Just a few questions if I can prior to the meeting next week:

1. What is the turn around time & cost of business cards? Unfortunately the people I had to do them prior to Xmas let me down & everyone is shut until 5th or 16th depending on who you get. Don't want to leave it any longer than I have to, as it cuts into doorknocking time. Would also like to get some small notepad sized leaflets suitable for handwritten notes for "sorry I missed you".
2. Is it necessary to have a web page?
3. Are there any 'must attend' events coming up?
4. How has the common sense tag been received by businesses so far?
5. Following the G C Bulletin's article of the 'Virgin Army' with common sense tag used, is it best to stay neutral?
6. Jabiru Island has become a very 'hot issue' in my Division and will send you a copy of my press release once it is completed. Could be a voting winner if handled correctly for me.
7. Corflute (don't know correct spelling) signage - what price can you do for us? I have a signwriter who is willing to help me at better than competitive rates, is it possible to compare?

Sorry to bombard you with questions, but I'm anxious to get the ball rolling faster.

My apologies for the delay in responding. Been a very busy first week back with yesterday in Sydney. Can certainly assist you with some competitive pricing etc and will cover all your queries tomorrow morning.

MEDIA RELEASE SPEECH

GRANT PFORR
"He's working FOR you"

Thank you State Member Peta-Kaye Croft, GCC Councillors (named), Ross Taylor Chair of JAG, guest speakers, ladies & gentlemen.

My name is Grant Pforr and I'm your candidate for Division 3 in the upcoming Council elections on March 27th.

I live in our electorate and grew up at Paradise Point 30 years ago. I say this because I believe you need to know where the area has come from before you can plan for its future.

Jabiru Island – where do we go from here?

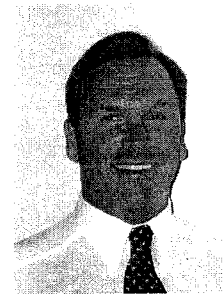

No-one wants Couran Cove to go out of business, however, we all want to see a better managed mainland facility operating. The current Runaway Bay marina is under huge pressure. What happens if the expansion of the Island Resort moves to it's capacity in the near future?

1. Couran Cove needs to find an alternate site. I've been communicating with all parties regarding several locations other than Jabiru.
2. If Council does approve the terminal here on Jabiru, we don't stop here. We need to put our concerns very strongly to the State Government and lobby all ministers. Perhaps we can block it here;
3. If all else fails and the terminal is approved by all levels of Government, Council should address & regulate the ferry terminal so as to address all residents concerns. Even if it means having some of the operations at alternative sites. For example the water taxi. This could be done in the appeals process.

I will continue to communicate with all parties on this and other issues, as I feel Jabiru Island will continue to haunt the GCCC for years to come. Thank you.

Hi Grant/Liz,

I've just realized that you have a hotmail address which can't receive graphics such as our spot blue completed ad for the Local newsletter.

I'll send it through by fax instead, so you can at least check the layout and copy.

Could you give a call to discuss please as I have made two changes to the text which I believe are necessary.

Hi Grant,

Thanks for your faxes – they make very interesting reading. Couple of comments:

- The 'Achieving/Working for You' Labor flyer is pretty much the same across all electorates for all Labor candidates, however I don't feel there is a need to change your strategy at this point. It's still a good strong, relevant line.
- Local Government is Politics and as such, difficult to avoid. The theme you need to emphasise is "Let's keep PARTY politics out of Local Government!"
- "I live in the electorate" could also be stated as "An independent local boy for local government – let's keep Party politics out!" or similar. These are the type of statements that you can regularly include in any media statements and public meetings.
- I'm not too sure about your third comment. Probably need to discuss that one further.
- Rod Wellfords note is positive. Give some thought to his former portfolio – there may be an angle on foreshore environmental issues that you are promoting that he can endorse or support. Won't do any harm with the Green Vote either. Alternatively law & order issues – what is there in Division 3 that is an issue and what solution do you propose that the Attorney General could support? All demonstrates your ability to work with State.
- Of course as an Independent, you need to balance that Labor support with support from the conservative side – and something from Rob Borbidge as well would be useful if we are to present all these endorsements or comments of support as a one page ad demonstrating your contacts & that you can work with all people across the political spectrum.

Talk to you soon.

Chris M.

Importance: High

Hi David / Sue,

In addition to further meetings with Brian Rowe, we have been proceeding with work for Grant Pforr, Roxanne Scott and Greg Betts. The latter two requiring by far the greatest amount of assistance. I have written to you both separately with an update on work required, cost estimates and suggested procedures so we can formalize this arrangement at the earliest opportunity and ensure that funds are in place.

David and /or Sue I need your immediate assistance in a couple of areas please:

1. Legals – We need an experienced point of reference to obtain unambiguous (and No Charge?) advice on matters relating to Local Government campaigning. I'm receiving constant queries from these candidates which are outside our area of expertise and impact on forward planning and budgeting. David – I seem to recall you had someone in mind when I raised this point some weeks ago. Can you advise please?
2. New Divisional Boundaries – we have prepared draft art work for brochures for Roxanne and Greg and are planning similar material for Grant Pforr, funds permitting. I urgently need on disc, art of the new divisional boundaries. Is this available and if so how quickly can it be sourced?
3. Timing – in the light of the Feb 7 State election and 3 weeks of intensive campaigning –what are your thoughts on local body candidates actively campaigning at the same time. I'd appreciate your comments please?

If you could get back to me tomorrow or on the weekend it would be most appreciated. I'm interstate next Tuesday and Wednesday and would love to have the above clarified for forward planning and costing purposes before I go.

Many thanks

Chris M.

Chris

I am sorry the lawyer I contacted has been on holidays but will be sorted out in the next couple of days. The disk should be to you by Tuesday at the latest. I feel that the candidates should go light on advertising until after the 7/2 but continue to do personal work such as door knocking or community meetings. The general advertising I feel will just confuse people and that will allow them to swamp it in the remaining time
