IOMS Use Agreement

The IOMS computing system is available for use only by authorised users. IOMS may contain confidential information and personal information. User access is restricted to information falling within scope of the user's authorisations. Users must conform to Agency standards and ethical work practices as documented in the Agency code of conduct. All staff have received a copy of the code of conduct. The code is also available on the intranet.

IOMS usage is monitored, for management, audit and review purposes. Information gained through access to IOMS means that you are an informed person under section 341 Corrective Services Act 2006. Unauthorised disclosure of such information is an offence under the Corrective Services Act 2006.

Unauthorised access or disclosure is a breach of the code of conduct and may also be an offence under the Information Privacy Act 2009 and the Criminal Code Act 1899. Misuse can lead to disciplinary action and may include dismissal.

Please acknowledge that you have read and understood these terms and conditions.

I acknowledge and understand all of these terms and conditions.
