

Ted and Sue

From: Wayne Moran (Jacem Business Development) [mailto:wayne@jacem.com]
Sent: Thursday, 18 December 2003 10:57 AM
To: Ted and Sue
Subject: RE: Campaign Danger

CRIME & MISCONDUCT COMMISSION
No. 2005-5 Date 23 Nov 05
IN THE MATTER OF:

OP GRAND

EXHIBIT No. 282
W. Moran CLERK

Hi,

I have real concerns regarding this like-minded candidates thing being run by Chris/Quadrant. In principle it all sounds good – but in practice is fraught with dangers. While it sounds good to support with advice sensible candidates who have the right ideas for the future of the city it can too easily construed as the reverse no matter how it is spun or what the intentions were to begin with. As we have seen countless times in the past the Bully will just not give it or you a fair go.

I have serious reservations about Quadrant also. They have no real experience with campaigning despite what they say to others and their efforts are advertising fixated which is only a small part of a true campaigning. Hearing about some of the other campaigns going on it seems that stuff we have planned are now turning up in the other Quadrant campaigns – look how everyone is now 'with you' with rasing the Dam. You could hear only crickets up until recently on this.

I know your long term friendship with Knickers is a difficulty in keeping Chris at arms length from your campaign but with all this other stuff going on outside of your control it is just going to end in tears and I don't want it to drag you and your campaign with it. In short stay out of it Ted.

One end of the day I strongly suggest that we use Chris on one promotional package – the 10 out of 10, and Quadrant gets paid for producing the artwork like any supplier of such services from our campaign funds. This way Chris's nose is not put out of joint and he gets his little drink.

Lets talk about it.

Cheers...

I Agree

Steven Moran
Chris

18/12/2003