SCHEDULE

1. To be examined in relation to:

An investigation code named Operation Tesco having the following terms of reference:

- (a) To investigate allegations that a number of police officers within the Gold Coast District have been and are involved in:
 - (i) using and supplying illicit drugs;
 - (ii) inappropriately using and unlawfully supplying confidential information to criminal and other associates;
 - (iii) assisting criminal associates to avoid detection, arrest and/or escape punishment for offences;
 - (iv) receiving benefits, including money, for their involvement in the matters described in (i), (ii) and (iii);
 - (v) misusing police property and resources;
 - (vi) abuses of office and abuses of power.
- (b) To identify and examine:
 - (i) The factors that facilitate, contribute to, or encourage the alleged misconduct and prevent detection of those involved;
 - (ii) The barriers to effectively addressing the alleged misconduct.
- (c) To make recommendations, identify remedial and preventative strategies to reduce opportunities for, and the incidence of, the alleged misconduct.

2. To be examined in relation to issues that have been identified in connection with the terms of reference outlined in (1)(a), (b) above falling within the following five areas of concern and as is appropriate to your position within the organisation:

- (a) Supervision, in particular:
 - the effectiveness of current practices to ensure accountability of uniform and plain clothes officers for activities during rostered shifts
 - how well supervisors are prepared for their responsibilities
 - the extent to which supervisors are supported in carrying out their responsibilities
 - issues or circumstances that impede or discourage supervisors from supervising properly
 - what the QPS is doing, or can do, to improve the effectiveness and accountability of supervising officers
- (b) Improper associations, in particular:
 - the nature and effectiveness of current QPS strategies, policies and procedures to deal with risks of, and actual, inappropriate associations
 - the extent to which the Gold Coast policing environment, or particular aspects of it, present unique or heightened risks of inappropriate associations developing
 - how well the QPS ensures its members are resilient to risks of inappropriate associations occurring
 - the nature and effectiveness of current QPS strategies to support members and assist them to manage risks that are posed by family members who are involved in, or suspected to be involved in, criminal activity or with criminal identities
 - what the QPS is doing, or can do, to minimise the impact of inappropriate associations on the security of its information resources, the integrity and effectiveness of its operations and activities and the safety of its officers/staff and members of the community.
- (c) Gifts and benefits, in particular:
 - current QPS policy and directives to members on, or relevant to, the acceptance of free or substantially discounted gratuities such as meals and alcohol, including from establishments such as McDonalds Restaurants

- the extent to which there is an understanding and acceptance by QPS members that these benefits may:
 - compromise or lead individual officers into corrupt activity
 - undermine community confidence and trust in the QPS and its members resulting in reduced community cooperation, the receipt of information and intelligence necessary to detect crime and arrest offenders
 - otherwise damage the reputation and credibility of the QPS and its members thereby reducing its effectiveness
 - how the QPS currently detects and manages the above risks
 - whether the current QPS position on the acceptance of benefits and gratuities by its officers is consistent with community expectations
- (d) Organisational culture, in particular:
- the extent to which the QPS is characterised by a rules rather than a values based approach to compliance and individual responsibility and if so, its effect on attitudes and actual compliance with QPS policies, procedures, legislative rules and safeguards
 - the extent and adequacy of QPS policies and procedures dealing with the obligations and requirements on its officers to report misconduct and maintain an appropriate level of confidentiality
 - the extent and adequacy of current strategies for the support for officers who report misconduct
- (e) Workforce and human resources management issues, in particular:
- the extent to which illicit drug and steroid use and alcohol abuse by operational police officers impacts on operational decision making and effectiveness, workplace health and safety and community confidence
 - the extent and adequacy of current QPS policies for detecting and dealing with illicit drug and steroid use and alcohol abuse by its members
 - whether current recruitment and screening practices are sufficient to ensure unsuitable persons are not appointed as police officers and the barriers to ensuring recruitment and screening practices are effective in this regard
 - the extent to which tenure, transfer and appointment decisions take account of integrity risks for the QPS and its members and the extent and effectiveness of current identification methods and strategies for dealing with officers or police establishments at risk
 - the adequacy and effectiveness of current QPS strategies for managing and dealing with the negative impact of intergenerational perspectives and attitudes concerning the above mentioned issues
3. You are required to produce any response or statement including supporting evidence specifically addressing any of the above issues upon which you may wish to rely on or refer to during your examination.
